The trolley delivered me to my dismay
At Brookline High School, last Wed-nes-day.
The summer was over, it hit me like bricks,
My freedom had ended, my future was fixed.

The freshmen all gathered and oozed through the door,
On Roberts, on Akers, on Packard and more.
We flowed down the halls, looking for classes,
We waited in lines, we huddled in masses.

Our schedules were wrong, the rooms were elusive,
The stairs led nowhere, the seniors abusive.
Elevator passes, a definite must
Who was a poor lonely freshman to trust?

I shuffled along, followed the bunch,
How did I know they were going to lunch!
I was supposed to be at the gym
Climbing the walls, skinning my shin.

Lunch was a problem, when should I go?
First time or second, how would I know?
A block, C block, or X block or D.
The comings and goings were a mystery to me.

Too early to school, too late for class,
My sister assured me all this would pass.
And just as I threw up my hands in disgust
I saw then how easy it was to adjust.

sophomores

A CONVERSATION BETWEEN TWO SOPHOMORES
7:45 SEPTEMBER 4, 1986
"Look at them Debbie."
"Who?"
"The freshmen. Who else?"
"Were we like that?"
"Like what?"
"Like — 'Let's play high school!' "
"No way — we were cooler than that."
"Don't be so sure."
"We're not the babies anymore, you know."
"I KNOW."
"Were you friends with any sophomores last year?"
"I don't think so." (a pause)
"But we sure do know a lot of freshman this year."
"They look so little and there are so many."
"I remember upperclassmen telling me the only flack I would get for being a freshman would be from sophomores!"
"That's what I heard too."
"Look at that guy over there — what a total freshman."
"I suppose we should be nice. After all, we were there last year."
"Yeah, I suppose. But it would take all the fun away from being one step up."

juniors

It was so big. It was incredibly big. The doors stood there like an open mouth, waiting to devour every freshman that walked through them. You entered the building and were swallowed up by the hoardes of upperclassmen. Where's the fourth floor? Which lunch is this? What's an X block? Some struggled to be known, others wallowed in their anonymity. Most just plodded along, not reacting one way or another.

The second time was easier. You had an entire year to your credit. You walked through those doors with your head held high. You didn't read the Student Handbook this time . . . you knew you were right in the middle.

This year it had become routine. The summer may as well have been a weekend and you had no trouble remembering your locker combination. The newest changes have been lunch increasing by ten minutes and getting your own mailbox. The words "the most important year of your high school career" begin to echo in your ears. Thoughts of "the college of your choice" find a little niche in the back of your mind.

But you're not there yet. You'll take that step when you come to it . . .

'Twas the day before High School

And all through the rooms,

Many teachers were stirring,

As were mops, rags, and brooms.

Preparing they were,

For the school year ahead,

They awaited the students —

"We are ready," they said.

When the next morn did come

The place started to fill . . .

How To Master The College Interview
By Mark Fortier

The college interview has been a grueling, frustrating encounter for seniors this year, but it doesn't have to be that way. I have learned from my experience that the key is to display your individuality and do everything in your power to make sure that you are remembered. Here are some suggestions that will insure your success.

Instead of the classic "blue blazer and penny loafers", the applicant should sport a unitard to exhibit his coherent personality, wear studded rhinestones to flaunt his sparkling style, and fake animal fur to show his concern and commitment to wildlife preservation. To top off his irresistible outfit, the applicant should tattoo a picture of Ronald Reagan on his forehead to prove his devout patriotism.

The following are some "eye-opening" answers to those classic interview questions.

What can you contribute to our school?

— I will contribute my left ear lobe and my leather bell-bottoms.

What are your hobbies?

— I have the world's largest defective Tupperware collection.

What do you want to major in?

— The history of bilingual can collectors of Central America

What extracurricular activities have you been involved in?

— I started the Mr. Ty-D-Bowl fan club and the PIBUAT coalition.

That is: Pseudo Intellectual Bellydancers United Against Tofu.

Do you have any special talents we should know about?

— I can twiddle my thumbs, make Spam from scratch, and swallow goldfish, but I do not do windows.

What makes you unique from all our other applicants?

— I am the Messiah!!!!!

As you might have guessed, the admissions staff gets on their hands and knees to beg this applicant to contribute color and diversity to their humble college campus. If all you underclassmen follow the enlightened path of this truly "original" applicant, I promise that you will be accepted at the college of your dreams.

What is your favorite excuse for procrastinating?

It's more like — what's my favorite excuse for not procrastinating.
I haven't recovered from last night's excursions.
I'm a senior, I've earned the right.
I need sleep.
I'm in a bad mood.

What are the advantages of being a senior?

I have a car.
You know that everyone is either younger than you or the same age.
I'm going to college.
The inherent advantages: being in charge and being the "favorite."
The light at the end of the tunnel is getting closer.

What advice would you offer to underclassmen?

Start stocking up on No-Doz.
Take advantage of all your opportunities.
Put some trust in your own decisions.
Do your homework.
Enjoy being a junior!

. . . if school is our second home,
then teachers are our second parents
it's all what you make of it
t-shirts and jeans to suits and ties
killer tests
"love my job" attitude
as freshmen they help us adjust as seniors, they recommend us always available X-block
we exasperate them . . .
they exasperate us . . .
we challenge each other don't dare come to class late we're all in this together
our paths cross for four short years . . .

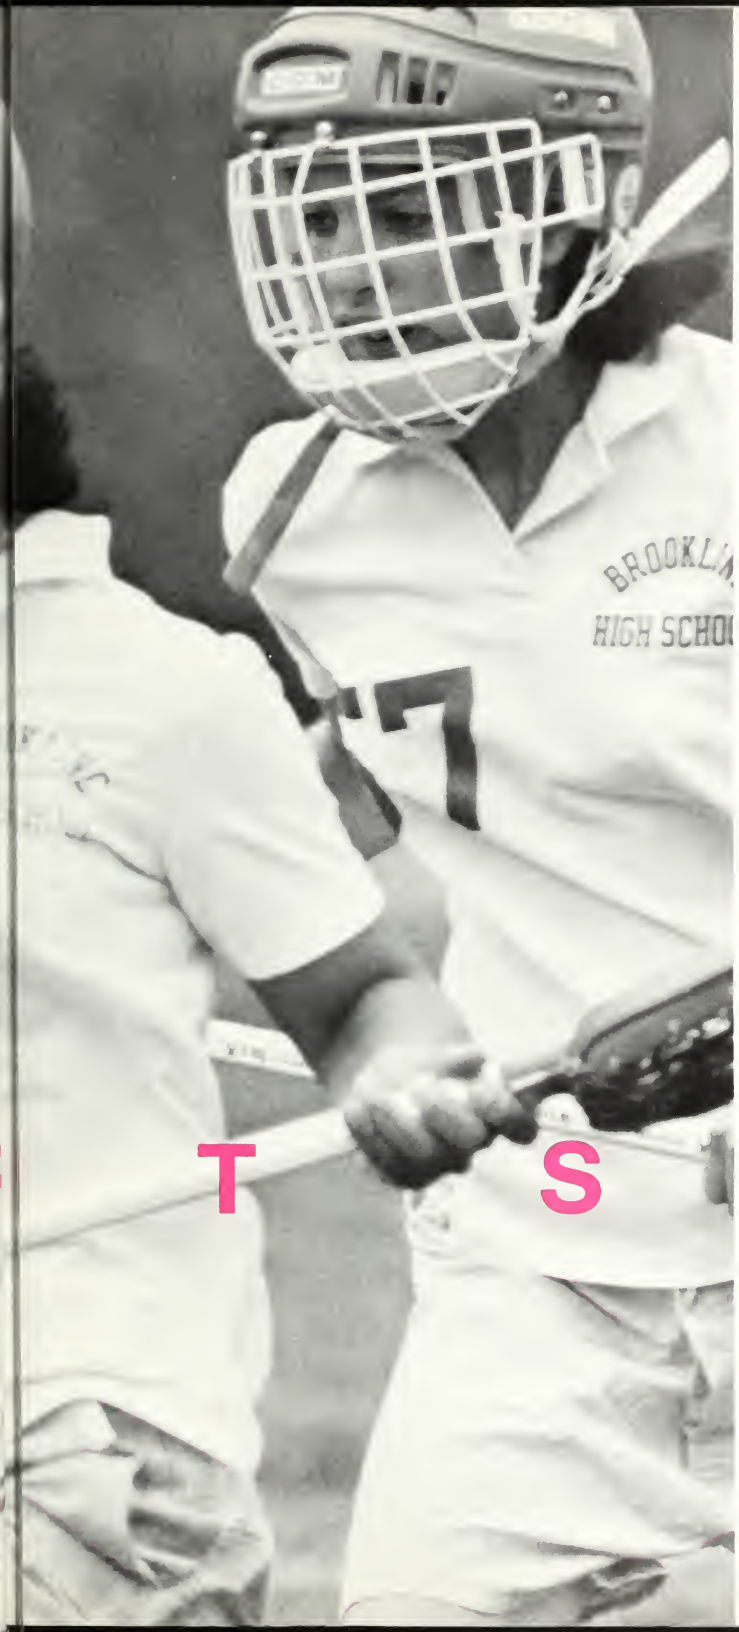
SPOR



Every year over 1000 students participate in sports at BHS. Every day we meet after school for a practice or a match. Some afternoons we spend riding on yellow school buses, other afternoons we push ourselves to the limit. We are no longer independent; we are all working toward a common goal. We discover new skills that we never thought were possible, channeling our hopes and energies into wins. School is in the back of our minds as each team unites against its opponents. Every night we return home tired, but still determined. The end results of sports are many: a winning season, a Suburban League title, a trip to the States, a climactic victory over Newton North, or a varsity jacket. More importantly, we all learn to enjoy playing the sports that we have chosen and to work with our teammates. The encouragement of our coaches and the cheers of the spectators inspire us to represent BHS to the best of our abilities.

In the end it was hard work and discipline that got us as far as we went. For some it was a depressing season; dreams of a State Championship fell to dreams of a Suburban League Championship which never materialized. Some things just didn't go our way;

> Lu's hip, and Yoav's ankle, and Danny's body, and Kevin's finger, and The Waltham game, and so on . . .

But who could complain, really? For the second year in a row Brookline put together a really good team. And what about the triumphs? Keane and Newton North, Dougie's 30 yard goal, Diego's falling side volley goal, Jordan's two miracle goals to beat Waltham with 5 minutes left to play, and the heroic battle against #1 seed Plymouth-Carver. Didn't all that hard work mean more than a Championship? Wasn't there more to waking up at 7 A.M. to run, more to the team Spaghetti dinners, more to the 2 years of almost daily soccer? Didn't we have a good time? And above all, Didn't we (admit it) learn a whole lot about ourselves?

. . . and isn't that what it's all about?

Hold your heads up, Brookline, you earned it.

This guy takes his soccer seriously.

Soccer 1986

This past season was exciting, enthralling, captivating, motivating, totally prime and always stimulating. There are a million memories that will echo in the back of our minds forever. Cries of "He is sooo fresh!" from the back of the bus during our scenic tours of the East coast, our many successful locker room discussions and the struggle it was to put up our nets before our always victorious home games are only a few of them. As much as we jammed on the buses, we always jammed more on the field. We were mellow, never uttering more than "OH, Fudge!" during even the tense games. Our series of injuries ranging from a broken nose to a surgically removed toe-nail at our unforgettable Newton North game, never affected our awesome coordination and grace on and off the soccer field.

You may think we are being just a little sarcastic and we are. On the other extreme, we were a serious bunch of totally cool soccer women. We were led and influenced by our rookie coach, Lana Nesmith, who always stuck with us. We have picked up Brockton as a new rival, but we will never lose to Waltham under the lights! Dudes, we wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Our hearts, along with our souls, will always be with you. KICK BUTT NEXT YEAR. "YOU ARE ALL OVER THAT FIELD!"

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

This year's Cross-Country team enjoyed a very fun season although they were beset by various problems that led to a 3-3 record. As we recall the season certain memories of those autumn months spring to view. Remember — Mike desperately trying to motivate the team — Chard taking a shit up for his locker — It really needs one — Robin the gift from Wellesley — Casey whose talent was admired by everyone including himself — the dedication of Jeremy and Peter S. to the sport — Matt and Jason's wisecracks — Stu's "I wasn't last!" — John and Denis's accident — going crazy administering the elementary school meet — Steve's sickness — the junior torture crew.

While we reminisce about these things, other events seem to have slipped our minds. We don't remember — the multitudes of fans attending our meets — the intense competitive drive of Becker, Cho, and Crawford — Coach Laakso's affection for a certain opposing coach and his love for the juniors — the perfect attendance of Eric, Ruben, and Peter W. — the strong competitive spirit of the Suburban League Meet — Anthony's great desire to run in the States — Leonard's outgoing personality — the quietness of Miguel — the perfect timing of the CM and Coaches Invitational Meets.

Overall, the season was fun, filled with intra-team friendships and personal triumphs. Good luck to future Cross-Country squads and to those members of the 1986 team. Keep up the running faith!

Best Wishes to all,
Mike Steinman

The summer before my freshman year Tehani convinced me to join the girls' Cross Country team. Little did I know that we were the girls' cross country team. That year we had four members. This year we had quadrupled in size.

That first year I went from not being able to make it around the pond to being able to compete, largely motivated by "that hot shot" Tehani — the freshman prodigy. The next two years were growing years. Tehani won a suburban league title in her sophomore year and I followed in my junior year. The team began to grow . . . races were won . . . team spirit formed. Running may be an individual sport, but to win you need even more than internal motivation — you need the support of the team.

Tehani and I leave the team next year, but each of us has left a piece of ourselves here. We expect that the team will continue to thrive and win and grow, and that the team will be a place for young runners to find new dimensions of themselves. Use the sport well. We wish all the young ladies well . . . how about a championship for BHS?

I'm sure I forgot something . . ."

Field Hockey '86

This Year BHS sported its best team ever with a 5-7-2 record. We worked hard over the summer at camp which most of us attended. Camp not only taught us useful skills and brought us together, but also entertained us with its fine (male) staff.

We beat Arlington, last year's #1 team, and Bishop Fenwick. We showed determination and presented a challenge to the league's powers, Malden and Everett.

With our new focus on offensive, this year's squad, Emily B., Alex, Emily H., Lisa, Gwen, Chantel, Pilar, Helena, Jessica, and sometimes even Nicole, got it together to "put the ball into the net" (We used our sticks, the other teams used other methods.)

Our awesome defense: Jen, Donna, Dina, Nicole, and our goalie Jane (awesome), we managed to keep the ball out of our net, against aggressive players and Chahleen.

The 1986 Girls' Swimming Team

The swim season was emotional, spirited, and demanding. Dips and push-ups replaced summer lethargy and coaches Bill and Jim stressed technique and discipline. We got a taste of hardwork with the advent of Saturday practices and the challenge of the scoop start. A defeat to Cambridge early on brought us roaring back to crush them in Suburbans. Brookline placed third in the league as anticipated. Outstanding performances in the area of diving came from Beth Chapman and (surprise) Jane Kanarek. Beth was selected as All-Star and Jane placed first at Suburbans in a program of six dives.

The future looks bright for BHS. Several excellent sophomores and freshmen will be making waves next year along with captains Donna Martenson, Kai Cha, and Heather Spears. Our 400 freestyle relay team, made up of the wondertwins, Leigh and Alyssa Hanlon, Lisa Rae, and star freshman, Gwen Kiesling, made the All-Star team for their performance at the Suburban League meet. Nicole Roblin also placed for her 100 butterfly. Overall the year was a resounding success. Seniors Barrie, Thea, Ruya, Leigh, Alyssa, Krista, Nancy, Beh, Kelani and I will remember throwing the coaches in the pool after meets and trying to learn those cheers. Thank you and Good Luck next year! Please beat Newton.

1986 Girls Volleyball Team

It was obvious that the 1986 girls' volleyball team was not made of the giants that Brookline has been used to. In fact, this year no player exceeded 5'5" Anyone who has interacted with this young team will know the distinct characteristics it possesses. The team consists of all natural athletes. Because of this we have succeeded in showing the Suburban League that, with a little more experience, Brookline will be a threat to its strongest competition. One thing that keeps the team together is our ability to get along and always have a good time. We could not have achieved any of this without our talented coach, Ellen Lewis.

Some things the team will remember about the season:

My buddy!!!!
"Can I have some purple skitters?"
"Where did Steve hit Nancy?"
Team — 5; Melanie — 1

Leona means: "Get down, Mel."

Although our 1-6 team record could have been better, this season was, in many ways, very successful and rewarding. We began the season with a strong team of 35, but as injuries and illnesses took their toll, we were lucky to have 15 show up for practice. Eventually, even Meaghann was forced to withdraw from competition due to injuries.

Dedicated and enthusiastic as our remaining athletes were, there were simply not enough of us to allow us a win over such powerhouses like Cambridge and Waltham. But fortunately what we lacked in numbers we made up for in spirit and lighthearedness. Our days were brightened by Sara's perpetual cheerfulness and Anne's & Becky's giddy, sometimes off the wall, behavior.

Our shot putting squad was perhaps the strongest ever, as returning members Korin Riley and Emily Beasley led the way for newcomers Rosemary Meinert and Danya Hollman. Off to a rather disappointing start at the beginning of the season, Captain Tehani eventually gained her momentum as she rediscovered that winning edge. Sara Hennessey continued to amaze with her incredible speed and endurance -- although she never did learn how to take those turns in the Pavilion. Alicia Reitman performed admirably in the high jump and Anne Williams showed her flexibility as a runner as she switched from the mile to the 1000 to the 200 almost effortlessly.

The future looks bright for BHS Girls' Track. There are many talented underclassmen ready to fill the shoes of this year's seniors. Karen Sternfeld, Jessamyn Williams and Petchron Mason will undoubtedly continue to improve their skills as runners and will hopefully see the day when Brookline wins the Suburban League. For now, farewell and good luck to seniors Meaghann, Tehani, Heather and Danya. Thank you Coach Parsons and Laura W. for your fine coaching and support. To all the rest of you -- Keep smiling, eat your Wheaties and BEAT WALTHAM next year.

You juniors are a limited few
You can swim fast, that's for certain
But next year the Seniors won't be here to carry the burden
Leading the team to Victory will be left to you

In only four short years we have swum to glory
Our paths toward colleges lead us away
Though every senior wishes he could stay
Before we go we have something to say
Make them know this is a continuing story!

This season was like a rollercoaster ride: the ups being our many victories, the downs, our numerous injuries and health problems. Despite the extensive injuries sustained by team members, we managed to emerge the victors against each and every South League team: Attleboro, Braintree, Framingham North, Milton (this was the first time they lost a dual meet in ten years!), Newton North and South, and Wellesley. The South League Gymnastics Champions (Brookline) ended their season with nine wins and one loss — we lost to the top-seated, State-ranked team of Revere.

I hope with this winning season the BHS Gymnastics Team has set a precedent that will long stand. With the new talent of gymnasts like Adam Marks and Tom Yee, the team is sure to continue with its success. Good luck and Farewell to my fellow seniors, Alain Frechon, Peter Grand, Hok Lay, Eddie Moy, Ben Szeto, Bulent Yalem, Juan Vines, and Lu Yoder. In closing, I would like to thank the team for a great season — I love you guys. Special thanks to Brookline fans and to Carrie Dorr for the support she gave us. We couldn't have done it without the superb coaching of Mr. Chiou-Tarn Lee and Mr. Steve "Gus" Gosdanian. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

David Ginsberg

Soraia's expressive hand gestures,

Gordo sets his sights on first place

In the Kendrick Pavilion, high above the land,
Lived the mighty track team, a quite motley band.
Decked out in speed tights and slick running suits
They worked hard in their league championship pursuit.
Led by captains and stretchmasters Phil, Mike, and Jay.
And Coach Ronald Glennon, who showed us the way.
To a well-deserved finish, a 4-1-1 decision,
Good for second in the fierce Suburban division.
Michelle and Coach Parsons were there to help out
While our Laura led many a painful workout.
Over six feet were Poohy and Andre to leap
(When they weren't on the mats, falling asleep).
Phil and Pete endured many bruised knees
As they banged over hurdles in their quest for speed
Dan Becker and Gordo were tougher than rocks,
Though we couldn't get Andrew to give up his Boks
Through the streets of Brookline our Ben Crawford sped.
While sweet visions of curveballs danced in his head
Reuben sang us some hardcore, while Jeremy sat
And said: "Once again, I am NOT Bill The Cat"
(okay, Tennessee).
Mike trained with strength and fierce tenacity,
While Jay always looked for the missing cage key.
Our own Rockin' Robin taught us all Guatemalan,
While Gabbe's injuries kept him from haulin'.
Our stretching didn't go with the guys of the shot,
But Dean, Max, Greg, and Essy helped put us on top.
Rich Gee showed great courage and drive in his races,
While in training the Donger went through all the paces.
The Frosh Sophomore squad caused quite a sensation,
With Stu and the Crüe, Matt, Rich, and the Jasons.
With Tamir, Alex, Jonah and Pete on the track,
The Suburban League title will be soon coming back
The Sophomore are sure to make the upper cut through hard work and learning to keep their mouths shut.
It was a successful year, a fun one for most,
State and League victories our track team can boast
Next year for the title our team will be gunning.
But until then, good luck — keep rocking and running.

Row Three: Jon Gwiazda, Jody Rosen, Aaron Passell, Julia Vogelsang, Becky Zavistosky, Meg Hourihan, Dylan Pringle, Julie Hermos (captain), Graham Jerabeak. Row four: David Lange, Jesse Williamson, Christian Stieber, Jason Cottle, Philip Noggle, Eric Colburn, Mr. Butchart.

The Ski Team thrashed in '87.

The Team, led by that most disillusioned of men, Scooter "Sitzmark" Butchart, in conjunction with Captain Julie Hermos, came on strong from the rigorous dry-land training sessions. The Team shredded its way to strong placings in every meet, including The State Cross-Country Championships, where The Team achieved a moral victory. Spirits were high on the bus ride home.

The downhill races, held on Prospect Peak, showcased the awesome depth of Brookline's talent. The Girls in particular surpassed any challenge posed by their foreign counterparts, on slope of hill or flat of field. The cross country meets were useful as opportunities for demonstrating skinny ski dominance, hobnobbing with some of the suburban Elite, and dining in elegance at the Langlaufer Café.

Sincere thanks must be extended to Coach Butchart, for the day-to-day trivia as well as for the profound impact that he has had on our spiritual development. May the ski teams of the future be so well guided, and have just as much fun.

THE MURIVIAN RAP

Since rappin' this year is the thing to do,
we decided to write this rap for you
By the time this master rap is done
D.M.C. will be on the Run
The Beastie Boy's are outta the race their face is gonna be a disgrace
Now this sad tale is hard to tell,
it involves a FRESH group that we know so well
The leaders of the bunch are Sens and Wall, without them we'd surely fall
Next in line are the rappers divine,
it's their job to keep things in line,
then we got the loyal crew
all fed well by Nelson Liu
This sorry bunch ain't got no home,
from the A-wing they were forced to roam, off to the U.A. they all were sent,
their pride had been a little bent,
no more couch or re-frdg-er-a-TOR
this was the sad weight they bore-or-or-or
The new office turned out swell
the A-wingers can go to
We want to thank our Murivian crew
for all the fun, and work they do!!!
Love Julie and Katy

SENIOR STEERING COMMITTEE

Energy and innovation were key to the success of this year's Senior steering. Headed by Mr. Webb, seniors from every clique united to plan prom and graduation activities. "The Senior Spirit Song" kicked off a series of fundraisers including the Sock Hop, candygrams, and carnations which proved profitable and fun for all.

JUNIOR STEERING COMMITTEE

A voluntary group of students under the leadership of teacher advisors and the Lincoln House Administrators founded to plan the activities of the junior class.

TOWN MEETING

Town Meeting is Brookline High's unique democratic governing body. Members meet weekly to discuss issues ranging from the intricacies of the AWOL policy to the inclusion of a Gay Rights Amendment in the Student Handbook. Town Meeting is an important presence at BHS because it is the one place where everyone — students, faculty and administrators has an equal voice. Representatives of various constituencies have the responsibility to involve the whole school community in decisions about significant issues that affect the quality of life at the high school.

SPANISH CLUB

Spanish Club provides students with opportunities to speak Spanish and to experience Hispanic culture outside of the classroom setting. Club members are planning holiday parties, a games day with Vanna White, movies, and a trip to a restaurant.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club promotes interest and enthusiasm in classical culture. This year's projects include a Saturnalia dinner, participating in a Ballista contest, attending Classics Day, competing in a Certamen contest, and taking part in the State Convention.

RUSSIAN AWARNESS CLUB

The Russian Awareness Club is a group of students who are interested in analyzing the political situations, culture and social views of the Soviet Union.

THE FRENCH CLUB

The French Club dedicated its time to the awareness of French Culture. This year, we met twice a month to plan the various activities that we engaged in, i.e. crepe parties, holiday parties, bake sales, movies, and field trips.

MURIVIAN BUSINESS STAFF

The Murivian Business Staff tries to raise enough money from ads to help subsidize the costs for the production of the yearbook. Diligent sales people went from store to store in Brookline trying to sell ads. While the work is not creative it can be fun. Their efforts are always appreciated.

FAIRNESS COMMITTEE

The Fairness Committee is the judicial branch of our school government. We mediate between parties and rule on issues of fairness and justice in our school community. If necessary, we also make recommendations to Town Meeting regarding school policy. Issues have ranged from fairness of a teacher's attendance policy to the hanging of public banners. Fairness Committee also tries to examine the judicial process and the way in which groups function.

Faculty Justices: Lynne Cohen, Syrul Laurie, Pipier Smith-Mumford, Fran Rogovin, Arnie Marcus, Polly Attwood, Ginger Flook, and Patrice Hurley.

Student Justices: Rachna Dhanda, Carla Deykin, Abby Schoenbaum, Emilio Rodriguez Jr., Mimi Levin, Rachel Weinstein, Josh Lazar, Nick Demtrius, Connie Villalba, Matt Sherman, Sylvia Clark, Caroline Kanegson, Mike Donowitz, and Joscelyn Jurich.

Alternates: Richard Wheeler, Kira Thaler, and Sarah Gallagher.

T.O.S.C.O.B.

The Organic Scaling Club of Brookline is a group of young people dedicated to the growth and enrichment of the individual's mind and body through experience and adventure in the great outdoors. T.O.S.C.O.B.'s trips led by Mr. Forsythe vary in diversity from hiking, biking and snowshoeing to canoeing; the only limitations being the desires of the group and how much gas we can afford.

RUGBY CLUB

This will be the eight season for the Brookline High School Rugby Club coached and founded by drama teacher Iain Ryrie. Last year's record was -2, with the team losing to Greenwich Ct. in the finals of the New England tournament in Exeter, N.H. One highlight of the season was hosting a team from Ontario, Canada. This year we plan to make a tour of Canada during April Vacation. The club in the past has hosted sides from London and Wales. We look forward to winning the New England tournament this year against arch-rivals, Marshfield Exeter Academy, Cushing Academy and Barrington R.I.

WINDSURFING CLUB

The Windsurfing Club has been revived. This spring we plan to have weekend trips to nearby lakes and beaches for funfilled days of windsurfing.

SKI CLUB

By far the largest club at BHS, the SKI CLUB provides several low-cost trips to the Northeast ski areas, as well as a week-long trip to Europe during the February vacation. The Club is based on the principle of total healthy enjoyment at the lowest cost. In years to come you may not remember certain topics of academia, but you will certainly recall "slushing" down Toad Road at the Loaf.

FRISBEE CLUB

The Frisbee Club is a group of fanatics who spend their time running around after a piece of flat plastic in all types of weather in the name of "Fun and Ultimate Frisbee".

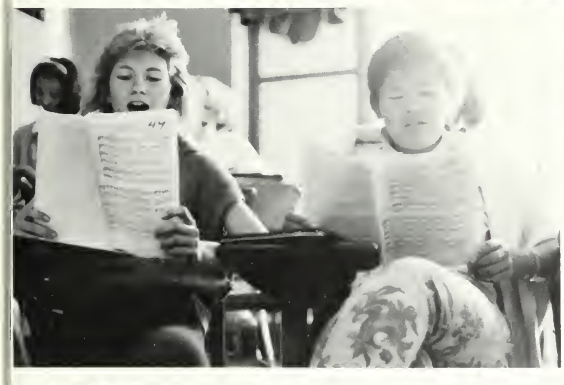
STRATEGIC GAMES CLUB

Although the Strategic Games Club naturally plays strategic games, we also play fantasy, tactical and PBM games such as Oogre, Armslaw, Diplomacy, AD&D and some created by our members. We always welcome new games and new players. We usually meet Wednesdays and Fridays right after school, rooms 261 or 344.

TECH CREW

GIRLS' CREW

Crew was started this year by an energetic bunch who wanted to try this now popular sport. Support of the school and Boston Boatclubs helped the "Brookline Crew" get off the ground. See you at the head of the Charles!



BOYS' CREW

This is the first year there has been a men's rowing club at B.H.S. Although they have only a few months practice behind them, these young men are worthy adversaries for neighboring crews in their category. The rowing club hopes to start their first year with an impressive record, and hope next year crew will be a a school sport.

CHINA STUDIES

The China Studies program consists of students who are interested in the culture, language and history of China. Activities range from attending lectures by Chinese professors to going to museums and schools that have displays or programs dealing with China. The culmination of this project is a summer trip to China every two years. The first trip was during the summer of '86 when twenty-two BHS students acted as junior ambassadors to China, representing the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

STUDENTS SPEAK RIGHTS — WNEV

MODEL U.N. CLUB

The Model United Nations Club consists of people who have diverse ethnic backgrounds and are interested in international relations. We sponsor two trips: one to visit the U.N. in New York City, and another to attend a Model U.N. convention in Hartford, Connecticut.

HORSEBACK RIDING CLUB

The Horseback Riding Club is dedicated to increasing interest in riding and to creating sore muscles! We go on many trail rides, take lessons, watch movies and have a great time.

THIRD WORLD AWARENESS

The primary goal of the Third World Awareness Club is to develop the group's own understanding of the problems in the Third World and to educate the school about our country's involvement in regions such as Central America and South Africa. Through guest speakers, rallies and debates we hope to generate activism and interest amongst the student body and create future peaceful links between our country and the Third World.

A.S.K.

The A.S.K. Peer Leader program trains high school students to present alcohol and drug education to the seventh grade classes in the elementary schools in Brookline. The Peer Leaders learn a lot during the training about alcohol, decisions, peer pressure, and themselves, and have fun doing it.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society selects members on the basis of their outstanding academic achievement, good citizenship and service to the school community. The society provides a tutoring service for the students of the school and participates in fundraising activities to provide a scholarship.

SCIENCE CLUB

Dedicated to the causes of freedom, justice, the advancement of mankind and winning, the Science Club spends most of its time building paper airplanes that don't fly, shooting lasers at Coke cans, figuring out the difference between the Eastern Spadefoot and the Red Spotted Newt, and blaming Dan for all the world's problems.

MATH TEAM

The Math Team consists of a group of students who love math. Besides sharing mathematical gems, solving interesting problems and taking math contests, we compete as a team against other high schools every six weeks.

NUCLEAR EDUCATION PROJECT

The Nuclear Education Project is a non-partisan group that works to educate its members and the greater high school community on a variety of issues directly surrounding the arms race. It works on the theory that those who are educated about the nuclear arms race may develop more intelligent and well based opinions on it. Members are encouraged to express their nuclear-political beliefs; whatever they may be.

WRITERS & COMPANY

Writers & Company is a literary club which publishes a magazine roughly three times yearly. We meet periodically to discuss the creative efforts of our members, who submit prose, poetry, and artwork. The editors are writers, our President contributes, and the motivation is from students.

VANESSA AND IRISH

Vanessa and Iris began in 1983 as a feminist journal, but we are also trying to address issues which have been neglected by other school publications. We accept art, poetry, prose, and open letters and we try to publish a magazine four times a year.

FAR EAST CLUB

The Far East Club consists of a group of BHS students who are interested in designing activities in and out of school for their own benefit. This year we have strived to greater achievements. The F.E.C. has arranged connections with other clubs in the Boston area for competitions in volleyball and basketball. We also have bake sales, candy sales, ice-roller skating and dinners.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Although the International Club is open to all students in our school community, it is primarily our foreign students who take an active role, as the club provides a vehicle through which these students can gain an identity with BHS. There are parties, trips and exchanges of ideas on the agenda. Be a person of the world — come join us!

ASIAN CULTURE CLUB

KEY CLUB

Key Club is the community service organization at B.H.S. Presently there are over forty active members. The Key Club involves the student community in the annual smoke-out and raises money for Oxfam and other needy groups. The goal of Key Club is to unite young people with the members of their community.

P SOCK HOP SOCK HOP SOCK HOP SOCK H

On October 24, the Senior Class sponsored the Sock Hop to raise money for the prom and graduation. D.J. Jimmy Jay cranked out everything from Elvis to Bon Jovi in the Schluntz Gym until 11 p.m. The Sock Hop grossed over $1,400.00 — one of the most successful dances held at BHS. The unique thing about the Hop was that it was actively attended by the Senior class. Over 60% of the dancers were seniors — stepping out to support the Class of '87.

Dear Lauren,

Not to worry, we'll always remember the jeep, rebarbecues, movies, your telephone, safety on the beach at night, more movies, social responsibility, shoe shops, Jake's late walks, Rocky Beach, still more movies, and that good time doesn't come to you, you make a good time.

Matilda, always know that your parents love you and wish you success and happiness at college and at life. Rusty and we send congratulations to you, R.V.R., D.Z., D.G., C.S., K.M., N.H., and all your other friends and remind you all to have a good time, but not too good.

With all our love,

Our high school years have brought many memories. There were days of laughter and days of tears, so as we go our separate ways we will remember the good times and the bad. We'll always cherish the special memories because they are what brought us closer and made our friendships even stronger. No matter what the future holds, we will always be friends.

Best of luck to all our friends, and every one of us.

KATY O'REILLY — Unable to resist the pressure, Katy drops out of Medical School to pursue a career in the ultimate sandwich spread. While fooling around with strawberries and cottage cheese, she unwittingly discovers a cure for AIDS. After receiving the Nobel Prize, Katy decides to retire and is currently leading a life of wife, kids, ORNA SEINNENSCHEIN — immediately after college. Orna meets a tall dark and handsome lawyer, Lester. The two fall in love and run off to Tel Aviv. However, with time, it turns out that this marriage is not Jewish, but an impasta. Orna continues to love him although her parents do not approve of this arrangement. Inspired by a dream, she opens a restaurant called "MA ORNA'S HOME COOKING" and has instant success with this dining extravaganza.

JOHN SLOVER — After graduate school, Jean marries and becomes a house husband. One day, up to his armpits in soiled diapers, he realizes that his lifestyle is a serious threat to his masculinity. He leaves his family and beloved Bouchard appliances and sets out in search of his true identity. He spends the rest of his days happily wandering through town parks and feeding Shakespeare to the pigeons.

JORDAN BLOOMGARDEN — Once finished with college, Jordan sets out to achieve his two most important goals: making money and drumming in a hardcore band. By day he becomes a cunning stockbroker in a conservative business suit carrying his squash racket and briefcase. At night, however, he would stir the hearts of all punk rockers with his cacophonous drumming talent. Soon believing that the welfare of the world rested on his shoulders, Jordan began exporting such relevant supplies as soft toilet paper to underprivileged countries.

Best of luck to the Class of '87

REUBEN SKY STISKIN — After faithfully pledging his allegiance to the John Birch Society, Reuben went on to become a financial wiz predicting the dramatic increase in Tofu stock. However, after having philosophical differences with his I.B.M. and after becoming disillusioned with Republican ideals, Reuben discarded his Paisely ties and pasta maker and becomes a flaming liberal. Dressed in tie-dye shirts and wearing long hair, he currently wanders the streets of America in search of Nirvanna and yelling "Love your neighbor!"

KATY MARTINO — Katy becomes an astronaut and breaks the final feminist barrier by becoming the first woman to walk on Mars. In the year 2005, her space ship malfunctions and her favorite old time television show "Lost in Space" becomes her condition. To this day no one is really sure what became of Katy. However many of our nation's most credible daily journals claim to have an answer. The National Inquirer itself reports that she has settled on a remote planet and has married The Little Prince. Sources say that they travel around the galaxy saving lonely baobabs.

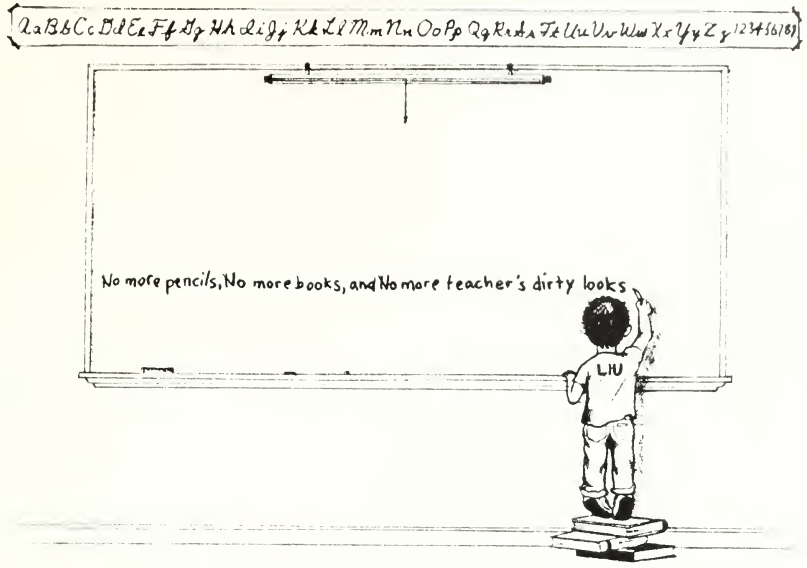
LINOR JUNOWICZ — After finishing law school, Linor grows sick of the daily pressures and becomes a private belly dancer performing for some of the most prestigious clubs in the World and doing some Bar Mitzvahs on the side. However, she decides to return to her previous pursuit as a lawyer and soon becomes a respected judge, but she has continual problems with her love life. After five bitter marriages she falls in love with an axe murderer who she has recently acquitted and presently leads a life of crime robbing liquor stores throughout the country.

LAURIE JOHNSTON — After suffering an identity crisis, Laurie becomes a Jewish mother. Living in Suburbia, she typifies the perfect mother with two kids and a doctor husband. Her nice house with white picket fencing is often used for tupperware parties. She becomes the chairperson of the local chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving and head of the P.T.O. When she is not busy with civic affairs she works part time in a pet shop and is the secret lover of Pee Wee Herman.

LAURA KLATT — After completing college Laura travels to South America. Riding through the jungle on a llama, she administers medical and health care to the poor and sells M + M's. While stopping in a remote village, she is captured by a wild tribe of headhunters. Her beauty does not go unnoticed and thus she is immediately crowned queen and lavishly adorned with rare jewels. Her domineering personality soon begins to take effect and slowly she builds and cultivates these people into an economically thriving country. Noted as one of the wisest and most popular rulers in the world, she is currently a respected member of the U.N.

DYLAN PRINGLE — Uninspired by college, Dylan drops out in order to pursue life as a 60's beatnik. After dabbling in Hinduism he realizes that he is fifty years behind the times. He decides that fitness is the way to approach life. Dylan's Slim and Trim Exercise Program, which is broadcasted on channel 6 at 3:30AM, grows to success. However, after Jane Fonda and Richard Simmons accuse him of plagiarizing his book, Dylan turns his efforts towards bringing about their corporate destruction.

See you in twenty years



It's been said at the end of the first grade, and can be heard at the end of the twelfth

"No more pencils, no more books, and no more teacher's dirty looks."

While it holds true for some, for others it will begin again in the fall at college. Yet, it is still a time to celebrate the end of our stay at the Brookline High School. For most of us, it has been an enlightening four years. From two plus two and Lexington and Concord we've progressed to linear equations and Vietnam.

Not only have we grown academically, but socially as well. We have established new friendships, broken old ones and tested present ones. There have been good times and bad times. Some of us have even shared and fought with an everlasting friend, our conscience.

I believe it is also time to praise and thank some people, for reaching the end of this journey could not have been done without their help. They have given us life. Some have cried with us and others laughed with us. They believed in us and somehow made us believe in ourselves. We owe many of them more than we can possibly think of.

I thank my parents, grandparents, and brothers. Their love and support will always be appreciated and treasured.

I thank my friends. Be they Craig and Val from first grade, Katy and David from fifth, Dylan and Jody from seventh, or Dan, Laurie, Jun and Becky from ninth through twelfth. The many I have come to know have been trustworthy, honest and caring. They have made it all the more worthwhile. Let us continue what we have started.

I thank not only the teachers that I have had but all teachers in general. Their effort, creativity, and stamina has been the backbone of education. I do not envy their jobs nor the stress involved with educating but I applaude their courage.

Now, I must end with a few words from a man who has always been my hero.

"So we are all idealists. We are all visionaries. Let it not be said of this Atlantic generation that we left ideals and visions to the past, not purpose and determination to our advisaries. We have come too far, we have sacrificed too much, to disdain the future now. And we shall never remember what Goethe told us — that the 'highest wisdom, the best that mankind ever knew' was the realization that 'he only earns his freedom and existence who daily conquers them anew.'
